“Feedback in International Settings”

This workshop will be facilitated by Irene Hotz Glanzmann

Irene has been working in the areas of intercultural training and human resources management for over 20 years.

Her career in international HR comprises the areas of management development and training, international recruiting and consulting. She also worked as an HR project leader and was responsible for various international projects, the building of HR processes and the development of a strategic management development program. At the same time she did internal consulting and coaching.

Since 2004 she has been working as an independent trainer, coach and consultant in the areas of intercultural management and international human resources. She has been training and coaching executives, expatriates and their partners. In addition, she delivers workshops for global business teams and teaches Diversity and Human Resources Management at professional schools.

In 2012 Irene started to build up intercultures swiss a partner organisation of intercultures in Berlin, a provider of high quality, competence-based intercultural training, coaching and consulting. She numbers various international companies among her clients.
