

IHRC Evening Event

Thursday, 25 October 2018

Workplace Culture: common values in successful companies
Living Case: IKEA

Our Speakers

Ina Rhöös grew up in Sweden and came to Switzerland as a professional floorball player. She has a University degree in Human Resources Management and Development and is working since more than 6 years for IKEA. She started her IKEA career as a sales trainee before she took her next step as HR Generalist in one of the stores for three years. She has been working for three years in the Swiss Service Office as country responsible for Employer Branding & Recruitment und Diversity & Inclusion.

Michael completed his first Master's Degree in Business Management at the Berufsakademie Stuttgart, his second Master's in Social-, Industrial- and Organizational Psychology at the University of Innsbruck. He worked for Texas Instruments, DaimlerChrysler and several consulting companies. 2005 he joined AonHewitt as a consultant for talent and organizational consulting projects and finally took over the lead for employee surveys and engagement in Central Europe. Since 2012 he is the CEO of Great Place to Work in Switzerland.

Our Moderator

Dagmar Richardson is a Consultant and Trainer at International HR Services Ltd., which is specialized in legal and administrative issues concerning international work assignments. Dagmar holds a Master of Sciences in Human Resources Management.

In 1997 she moved from the Marketing/Sales sector into the field of Human Resources at Bestfoods CZ/SK and with its purchase by Unilever in the year 2000 she was promoted to HR Director at Unilever. From 2005-2007 Dagmar was HR Director for an international group in medical devices.

She has been a member of the IHRC Core Team since June 2016.